IRISES

1926 SURPLUS LIST S. S. BERRY, 1145 WEST HIGHLAND AVE. REDLANDS, CALIFORNIA

Join the American Iris Society

It is doing a valuable work and you will find its publications most interesting and useful. Dues $3.00 per year. Address Mr. Arthur H. Scott, Treasurer, Front and Market Streets, Chester, Pa.

FOREWORD

This little catalog, now in its third edition, constitutes an effort to find outlet for, and especially to secure wider local dissemination of the fast accumulating surplus of one of the largest study collections of Irises on the Pacific Coast. Limited space makes the stock of many varieties listed unduly low, but as the resources of two other large private collections are also available through arrangement with their owners, we are generally able to supply reasonable demand.

As we are constantly acquiring new varieties, and comparing and discarding older ones, the list of varieties available in surplus is constantly changing, and similarly but a certain proportion of the 1000 or more varieties which our com-bined collections include can be offered at any one time. Single roots, however, of many varieties not yet listed can often be supplied, so in case of specific desiderata unmentioned in this leaflet, special inquiry is invited.

Attention is called to the further material reductions in prices in this 1926 list as well as to the many new varieties offered.

The short list of our own seedlings (see page 4) is especially nominated for consideration. The newer introductions offered are very desirable for California gardens, but their behaviour in colder climes has not as yet been ascertained. Two are now listed for the first time.

CULTURAL NOTE

The culture of Irises depends mainly upon the particular group or type to which the plants belong. That of the majority of the Pogoniris or bearded group is very simple. Abstention from the use of retentive manure, a fair amount of lime in the soil, and good drainage are the principle points to attend to. The rhizomes should be set in the earth at time of planting with the roots carefully spread and the soil firmed about them, but the top of the rhizome not quite covered. In southern California the most successful Iris growers are those who irrigate their plantations occasionally through the summer, say once a month like a citrus orchard, following each watering with light cultivation.

Ridging the beds or planting on a slope is often resorted to with notable success.

Apogon Irises require somewhat more moisture as a rule, and for some groups, notably Oncocyclus and Regelia, quite special treatment is demanded-lighter soil, extra care in drainage. abundance of lime, and no water in summer.

For immediate garden effect we strongly recommend planting in groups of 3 or 5 rhizomes of a kind. Such a number may often be supplied at an appreciable reduction from the regular per unit price.

TERMS

Cash with order or references.

Fulfillment of all orders subject to stock on hand.

Prices are for strong, single rhizomes. The Iris borer has not yet come into our garden and every care is taken to keep stock as free as possible of rot and other troubles.

Where stock permits, twelve roots of a variety will be supplied for the price of ten.

We offer no guaranty except to do our best, but should stock sent prove untrue to name, every effort will be made to replace same satisfactorily.

Orders to value of $5 or over sent prepaid to any part of U. S. Those of $10 and over are privileged to a selection of extra plants to the value of 10% of the order.

Where customer includes allowance for postage with order, extra plants will be sent to cover same.

OUR OWN INTRODUCTIONS

(Excepting Jacinto, Cacique, and Canyon Mists, not over two roots of each to a customer.)

JACINTO (1924). S. Light Lobelia Violet, F. Ageratum Violet; flower of fair size and attractive symmetry; 4 ft. stem, well branched:

a tall pale blend of neutral tone with a pinkish cast; soft colorings, often seen on the beautiful mountain whose name it shares; present reports seem to indicate this to be reasonably hardy in the north. $5.00.

- *ORIZABA (1925). S. Pleroma Violet, F. Hyacinth Violet, deepening to Mulberry Purple; conspicuous yellow beard; a huge and handsome dark purple Iris of Mesopotamica habit; 4 ft.; very early; coloring remarkably clear and deep; hardiness quite untested; illustrated on cover. $10.00.
- CACIQUE (1925). H. M., A. I. S. Handsome, upstanding fulva hybrid, in Prune-Purple and Blackish-Purple, on the order of the well-known Dorothea K. Williamson, but with us taller and a more robust grower; warmer but less brilliant coloring; brilliant gold signal patch. $5.00.
- *CANYON MISTS (1926). A very light mauve self, quite similar in color effect to Mlle. Schwartz, but has a longer season and does not fade out seriously in bright sun. With us it is a more satisfactory grower and more floriferous than Mother-of-Pearl. A seedling of Caterina and very effective in mass where pale coloring is desired. Especially recommended for gardens where Mlle. Schwartz proves unsatisfactory. 3 to 3½ ft. $5.00.
- *MAUNA LOA (1926). H. M., A. I. S. A tall upstanding bicolor of a strong reddish cast, the rich Dahlia Purple falls giving the dominant color note. Very large flowers. For so big and tall an Iris it seems to stand up amazingly well in rough weather. This has been one of the most admired Irises in our entire garden, and nearly all available stock for 1926 delivery has already been sold. $15.00.

SPECIAL SET

A set of one each of the following recent introductions and novelties will be sent prepaid for $25.00: Orizaba, Jacinto, Conquistador, San Gabriel, Cacique, Canyon Mists.

WILD TYPES OF POGONIRIS

We are especially interested in the wild forms of Iris and have a considerable collection of which the following are now available in more or less surplus. They are particularly interesting to those concerned in breeding work or botanically inclined, but most are likewise fine garden plants.

Albicans. Lovely early flowering white Iris, indispensable in California where it is often in full flower in February and usually lasts till Easter. 25c; 5 for $1.00; $15.00 per 100.

Amas. A huge broad-petaled germanica from Asia Minor. 35c.

Cengialtii. Small, but very floriferous lavender Iris from northern Italy; exquisite when massed. 35c.

Nepalensis. A deep blackish-purple form of Kochii. 35c.

Pallida. Tall light lavender. 25c.

Pallida Dalmatica. Similar to preceding, but larger flowers and deeper in color. 35c.

Variegata. A strong growing wild form of the true species from Sir Michael Foster's garden, originally no doubt from southeastern Europe. $5.00.

POGONIRIS-GARDEN VARIETIES

1926 DISCARDS

The following Irises have been rejected from our garden and will no longer be offered. Record of their departure seems worth while, although we are fully conscious that our grounds for criticism may not apply with equal force in other localities.

Anne Leslie. Weak grower.

Berchta. Uncertain in behaviour and others more attractive.

Blue Jay. Not good enough to keep.

Carmencita. Good in its way, but not outstanding.

Clematis. A type we have not learned to care for.

Dawn. Pales almost to white with us; its newer competitors, such as Old Ivory and Yellow Moon, infinitely superior.

Fulvala. Weak grower; less richly colored than others of allied parentage and exceedingly subject to rust.

Germaine le Clerc. Not sufficiently distinctive. Glory of Reading. Ditto.

Henri Glower. Twisty stem; narrow segments.

Hope. Neither robust in growth nor particularly outstanding.

Kathryn Fryer. Poor shaped flower.

Lord of June. Standards flop badly; Ballerine and several others are greatly superior.

Loute. Very fine when well grown, but too uncertain.

Maxime Cornu. Hardly worth while.

Medallion. There are better variegatas.

Miriam. Not at all distinctive if our stock be true.

Mme. Pacquitte. No longer needed, with so many newer and prettier rose-lilac varieties.

Mrs. A. M. Brand. Fades in bright sun to a washy white.

Mrs. Kingscote. Not outstanding.

Mrs. Neubronner. Very bright and attractive some seasons, but too uncertain in behaviour.

Mrs. Reuthe. Both this and the daintier Dimity not needed.

Naushon. With us not especially distinctive.

Nokomis. Odd, but scarcely worth while.

Odin. Discarded in favor of the brighter and more positive Turk.

Ringdove. Not sufficiently distinctive.

Santa Monica. Too similar to numbers of our seedlings.

Savignian. Not outstanding.

Stamboul. Not unusual in color and too sparing of its flowers.

Toreador. Not outstanding.

Tuscany. Flower not of best form and stem snaky; far outclassed by others of the type.

Windham. Chiefly of landscape value it is too weak a grower under our conditions to be worth while.
